

Wanted: Session Moderators!

Howdy, partner!

If you're lookin' to get involved with ILASFAA, here's your chance.

Saddle up and volunteer to moderate a session at our upcoming conference.

It's a great way to rope in new skills, make connections, and be a part of something special.

Sign up by clickin' the link below and join us on this journey to success!

By volunteering as a Moderator, you'll be saddlin' up for an unforgettable experience!

Here's what's in store for you:

- A special invite to a virtual kick-off meeting for Moderators, where we'll get ready to ride into the conference (meeting on March 24th @ 2 p.m.; invite will follow after sign-up).
- Assigned to introduce a session and the presenter during the conference - each Moderator will be connected with their session's presenter(s) via email before the event.
- Moderating any questions during your session, making sure things run smoother than a cowboy's lasso.
- A chance to network with fellow cowboys and cowgirls and learn a valuable new skill to add to your saddlebag.

Click on this link to sign up by the end of the day on Friday, March 7th – don't miss out on this wild ride! Yee Haw!

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to ILASAA Conference Program Co-Chairs, Jenn Schultz (jennifer.a.schultz@svcc.edu) or Stephanie Claudio (stephanie.claudio@illinois.gov).
